TQUALIZATION OF BOUNTIES. There is a good show of fairness in the demand which has been made in geveral States thence down the iron support of a small centrefor the payment of bountles to these soldiers who received none, or less than some of their more fortunate comrades in the army. Those who composed the first regiments that entered it passed clong between the tie rection and the the field did so from motives of pure patriotism or mi itery arder, while the recruits who filled up the declared ranks or constituted the new levice. were tempted by the offer of bounties which were repeatedly increased in value to the close of the conflict. The claim now is, that all should be made recipients of equal sums for the work they did and the sperifices they made.

Justice does not require this additional payment for work performed under a contract which did not include a stipulation to that effeet. The bergain first mede was final and result from cold weather. Spring wheat will be conclusive as to those who accepted its terms, and subsequent contracts made with other parties could not affest such as had been fulfilled and bad expired by limitation. If the equalization it effected, the money paid as its result will be a gratuity and can be nothing more or

All patriotic people would be glad to see the But the soldiers themselves would be unwilling to take the position of recipients of a charity, Ohicago Tribude remarks:

"From all the accounts we have seen up to the present in the measure. In the condition of indebteduces in which the States are involved in consequence of the war, so heavy a draft upon their treasures as this action would render necessary would bring most of them to the verge, if not into the very fact of bankruptey. The State and national takes already boar with fearful weight upon the people, actually paralyzing same branches of industry, and a large addition to the barden could only be crushing in its effect.

At the recent "Concol" between Gen. Hau cook and Satana, the Kiowa chief, the traoble red' distinctly charged the agent of the Government, who was present, with having appropriated to his own use a partion of the Indian annules, and that this was the reason for the depredations of the Klowes. The Government sgent could not disprove the accusations of the chief, and the facts will be forwarded to Washington.

It is already understood to be the purpose of Jeff. Davis to set to work writing a book-giving bistory of the secession movement, the Southern struggle, and bis own adventures from De. OHAPERS AND IAILORS cember, 1860, to May, 1867. Davis will probably make out an excellent case for himself, ignorlog the fact that a large portion of the Southern people attribute the downfall of the Confederacy to his lacompetency.
